LINDBERGH'S LITTLE FALLS SPEECH

The Little Falls Transcript in commenting on the speech of Mr. Lindbergh at that place on Saturday evening says:

The speech is closely along the lines he has followed in addressing audiences elsewhere in the district. It covers his claims for support as against Buckman's claims for renomination. It closely resembles an attorney's papers in a law suit. He enters a general denial of all of Buckman's claims for credit in accomplishing anything for his constituents or district. While the record shows that a great many advantages have come to individuals and communities, and the congressman did make efforts to secure them, Mr. Lindbergh would give him no credit for any results. That they were secured shows they were possible, therefore they were due as a matter of course. That is an absurdity that will appeal to very few thinking voters. A congressman's value to his district depends on his ability, energy, and his success in securing all the possible benefits that can come through the national government. From that point of view Mr. Buckman has been a most excellent official, and the efforts to deny him due credit has no foundation in reason. The attack against Mr. Buckman as a local representative falls flat.

On the great national questions that were before congress, and voted on by Mr. Buckman, Mr. Lindbergh has no criticism for the congressman. The only congressional vote he attacks is the one that favored the purchase of Panama canal materials in the home market. This had the almost solid support of the republican congressmen, and seems strictly in line with republican principles. It is applying the same principle to national affairs that is generally advocated in local business matters. Mr. Lindbergh has his own view on that. But to Buckman's record on general legislation, his opponent can find no serious objection.

Mr. Lindbergh denounces Mr. Buckman as a tool of corporations, and allied with the money interests. That seems almost sarcasm coming from such an eminent attorney for many corporations and one so connected with various banks, and so long and heavily concerned in strictly financial transactions. If employment, association and alliance with certain interests tend to bias or influence a citizen, then Mr. Lindbergh has no fair ground or basis for pointing the finger of suspicion toward Mr. Buckman.

SIMPLE CATARRH REMEDY

Take a Hyomei Treatment Four Times a Day and be Cured.

Hyomei has performed almost miraculous cures and is today recognized by leading members of the medical profession as the only advertised remedy for this disease that can be relied upon to do just what it claims.

Until recently your physician would have said the only way to cure catarrh would be to have a change of climate, but now with Hyomei you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day, cure yourself.

The Hyomei treatment is simple and easy to use. It destroys all catarrh germs in the air passages and enriches and purifies the blood with ozone. When using Hyomei the air you breathe will seem like that on the mountains, high above the sea level.

A complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1, extra bottles 50c. If it does not give you satisfaction H. P. Dunn & Co. will refund your money. You run no risk whatever in taking this reliable treatment.

EVIDENCE OF CRIMINALITY.

Against More Than One Person in Real Estate Trust Company Case.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—District Attorney Bell, after an all day investigation of the affairs of the Real Estate Trust company, which failed last Tuesday, established direct evidence of criminality with more than one person responsible. Arrests now are absolutely certain and it is known that the suspected persons have been placed under surveillance.

"The deposits have been swept away," said Mr. Bell. "They have been looted. My investigation shows that more than one person is implicated. There will be arrests, but when I have not decided. Monday I interrogated Directors Junkin, Houston, Benson and Porter and a number of under officials of the trust company. I secured much evidence from them. I shall continue my investigation and will examine Treasurer North and Assistant Treasurer Collingwood. I have found no evidence that the trust funds were tampered with beyond the $50,- 000 already reported, but I have not concluded my investigation of this department."

It is the intention of the depositors to place the burden of responsibility for the failure upon the shoulders of the directors.

AMUSEMENTS

The Maid and the Mummy.

There is nothing on the stage that pleases the public so much as a good song, with chorus and dance. Richard Carle, who wrote "The Maid and the Mummy" which comes to Brainerd Thursday, Sept. 6, is both a good singer and a wonderfully clever dancer, so he realized the necessary for good song and dance numbers when he produced this merry, musical melange. There are a half dozen song with catchy airs and original dances in "The Maid and the Mummy." One of the biggest hits is the song, "Oh, Gee, It's Great to be Crazy." This is sung by Joe Edmonds, a lithe limbed dancer, who is assisted by a dozen pretty girls in crimson and black. The words of the song, which always receives from six to a dozen encores are as follows:

It's hallucinations and uneasy dreams at night,
And when I oft relate them everybody run in fright, They think that I am crazy, that my head is full of wheels, But every one would envy me if he knew how good it feels, I've seen a jet-black raven rave, I've seen a broker broke I've seen a wooden shaving shave and heard an art-i-choke I've seen a little chip-munk chip, and seen a leper leap,
I've seen a pillow slip and heard a chimney sweep.

Oh, Gee, it's great to be crazy, crazy crazy as a loon, Ev'ry fellow's unhappy but the lucky devil who's off his nut If you could only realize how foolish it is to be wise, Every one of you would like to be crazy.

Parsifal

The ordinary illusion of the senses, which is part of the enjoyment of the occasion, when one witnesses a dramatic production of any merit, is, that for the time being, one imagines one's self as witnessing real occurrences upon the stage. Between the different acts, especially upon leaving the theatre, the illusion is dispelled and one regains his normal condition.

The very reverse of this well known fact, is the experience when witnessing Wagner's impressive spectacle of "Parsifal." While the play is being enacted, the spectator becomes so wrapped up in it's development and characters, that he actually experiences the strange sensation of being one of the Knights of the Grail and, for the time being, living among them. Between the acts, particularly so if he leaves the building, he is as if in a dream and acts in a mechanical manner as though unconscious of his surroundings, but seems to be restored to his normal self upon the continuance of the play. This appears to be a strange reversal of the usual order of things, but singular as it appears, it is nevertheless the facts.

It certainly speaks highly for the impressiveness of the drama of "Parsifal" and its extremely natural action and theme.

At the opera house in the near future.

TO THE PUBLIC.

During the state fair, from Sept. 3 to 8, Hon. Albert L. Cole, Republican candidate for governor, will have a tent on the fair grounds, where he can be found from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.
The people generally are cordially invited to come in and call upon the next governor of Minnesota.

"How about yourself? Did you ever think how easily you might get appendicitis? Better get Dr. Adler's treatment, the great appendicitis preventative. Then you'll be safe. Johnson's

LABOR DAY WAS CELEBRATED

Less Apparent Interest was Taken Than for Several Years
Last Past

FEW LOCALS WERE REPRESENTED

Speakers Held Crowd Fairly Well But Attendance was Much Less than Heretofore

There is no disguising the fact that organized labor itself took less interest in Labor Day this year than for several years past. Though the day was a perfect one but few of the unions in the city were represented. The parade, which appeared about 9:30 was headed by the band of 14 pieces led by Prof.
Wm. Graham, and considering the fact that the last time they played was Labor Day a year ago, they furnished excellent music, all being expert musicians. The Machinists, had the head of the procession, the Butchers, Carpenters, Boilermakers and Moulders followed in about the order named. The Moulders had a drum corps and were the only order marching in uniform. They also had a man dressed as Uncle Sam, carrying the stars and stripes and surrounded by a bevy of little girls dressed in red, white and blue carrying ribbons of the national colors running down from the flag staff.

The Moulders drum corps composed of F. A. Ponth, August Schultz and J.
A. Hoffbauer, lifes, and Tod Williams and Axel T. Sundberg, drums; played well and attracted much attention.

The speakers of the day and ex-Mayor Halsted led the procession in a carriage and on their arrival at the speakers stand at the corner of Fifth and Laurel, Mr. Geobel was introduced and spoke for some time along the usual lines, insisting that the only relief for labor was organization and the only hope for organizations was the political action through the socialist party. Officers of the organizations taking part in the parade expressed themselves as considering him too radical.

The address of Mrs. Lundberg was much better liked by the union men present so far as can be learned than was that of Mr. Geobel.

The ball Monday evening was the crowning event of Labor Day and was well attended and heartily enjoyed. The music was fine and the Trades and Labor assembly cleared enough from the ball to pay all the expenses of Labor Day.

Pacific yards. This is the second po-few weeks on little or no provocation by boxer tramps, and the people are wildly indignant. If the guilty man is caught nothing can prevent a lynch-

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY DISPATCH:

Minneapolis, Sept. 4.—The demo-was one of the largest held by the democrats of this State in recent years, over one thousand delegates being present. Johnson's nomination was made in barely one hour after the convention had met and before the platform was adopted.

STAPLES' FIRST LOSS

Team at Sister City Lost First Game this Season Yesterday—Mitchell Team Took it.

Staples had the misfortune to break their run of good luck and fast playing by which they have won every game so far this season yesterday. They beat the Mitchell team of Minneapolis by a score of 5 to 0 Sunday but yesterday good luck and good playing combined were too much for the Staples bunch and the Mitchell team took them into camp by a score of 2 to 0. Quite a number from here went down to see the game.

OFFER OF PARDON STANDS.

Government Will Grant No Other Concessions to Cuban Rebels.

Havana, Sept. 4.—President Palma in an interview Monday night with the Associated Press put an end to any expectation that he would make any concessions whatever to the rebels beyond the offer of pardon already extended. The president said he could not possibly make such concessions either now or hereafter and could not see in any event what the government could offer beyond what had already been done.

American intervention, the president said, had not been considered because the government believed it could end the insurrection without assistance. The president added:

"You may say emphatically that rumors of any action by the government in any way looking to a compromise or making concessions to the rebels are absolutely false and unfounded for the present or for the future. It is impossible that any contingency could bring it about. I cannot see what the government could offer the rebels excepting to allow them to return peacefully to their homes, provided they surrender and give up their arms. As to my private efforts to secure peace by any organization or individual influence I would be only too glad to see it brought about and pledge my word that there will be no prosecution of those who committed this unpatriotic deed."

Talk about a peaceful settlement continues rife, but no definite plan is offered that can be acceptable to either side. A meeting of veterans and politicians may be held, but any definite results are altogether unlikely.
No fighting of consequence is reported. The principal engagement reported is one in which Colonel Mile, commanding a force which sallied a week ago from Cienfuegos, encountered at Cumanayagua, Santa Clara province, a force of insurgents, whom he scattered, taking ten prisoners, arms and horses.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Cole's Kenyon speech created some little consternation in the west end of the capitol on Tuesday morning when the governor and his private secretary got their morning papers. Mr. Day made a bee line for the governor's office, ran into the colored messenger and almost knocked over the oval rosewood table in the governor's reception room, so great was the excitement which followed the first reading of the speech. It was evident that Mr. Cole had run to the windward of the governor and had taken the wind out of his sails. The Democratic press bureau, under the direction of the private secretary, had been carefully circulating stuff to the effect that the Republican candidate for governor was a corporation tool. A lot of material had been gathered by Document Clerk Grimmer, State Librarian John King and State Oil Inspector McDermott, and other fellows who draw salary from the state while working up the Democratic campaign, and this would now have to be blue pencilled. There was a glum half hour, when King let in some light on the question by asserting that the governor could endorse all of that speech, and that it was his platform anyhow. He argued that they had taken the credit for the reduction to grain rates, and that they might as well take the credit for Cole's speech, too. It was ordered that King prepare some "boiler plate" for the Democratic papers in which the stand was to be taken that anybody could endorse Cole's speech and that there was nothing in it but what Johnson had been preaching ever since he had been governor.

The speech appears to have made a distinctive hit, and there is more than one man around the hotels and other places where people congregate who have been heard to remark: "That speech will elect Cole governor." That was what ex-Mayor Doran said when I saw him the other day, and Cole was not originally Mr. Doran's choice. While he would have supported Cole, for he is a loyal Republican, by the gleam of his eye one could tell that it would be with a good deal more pleasure since Cole has thus declared himself. Its straight forward earnestness seems to have made a splendid impression. It has pushed Cole away to the front. The endorsement of the press has been spontaneous and quite universal.

There is serious confusion in the ranks of our friends of the opposition on the platform question. Usually they have to wait until the Republicans have taken a position and then oppose it. The Republican platform so clearly echoes the people's demands, and it has been emphasized so nicely by the speech of Mr. Cole, that the Democrats are sore pressed for an issue. I understand that it was the intention to make much of Mr. Johnson's connection with the reorganization of insurance companies' schemes, but Mr. Cole has neatly headed off most of that campaign thunder by a few business-like suggestions as to what ought to be done in the matter of the supervision of these concerns. Insurance is business and not politics, and Mr. Cole treated it in a business-like fashion. The leaders are working on the platform all their spare time, but they won't give it out. They probably think it would be discourteous to the committee on resolutions, which will probably approve and report them to the convention, and some of the boys may think that the committee did it themselves.

Mr. Mahan, the young attorney who has been conducting the case of the shippers before the railroad commissioners, did not accept Governor Johnson's appointment to join the Bryan jubilee in New York. He thought he had better stay in Minnesota and look after his fences. Thursday he was in Minneapolis, presumably in consultation with the leaders. The suggestion of his name for attorney general has gotten a little too far to be easily controlled and the slate-makers are endeavoring to side track him for railroad and warehouse commissioner. He may be nominated attorney general in spite of the leaders, in which case of course they would have to flim-flam him.

From the stories floating around among the knowing ones it seems that there is not the most cordial relations between Private Secretary Day and State Boiler Inspector McDermott. What the cause of the friction is I have been unable to learn definitely, but the indications are that Mac is a little jealous of prestige that Mr. Day seems to have with the governor. That is at the bottom of the little unpleasantness that they had in the Duluth convention last Saturday. McDermott used the Hearst followers to make his fight on Day. The governor is known to be somewhat disturbed over the situation, but he has taken sides with his private secretary, and has intimated to some of the leaders that he desires Mr. Day again at the head of the committee.

I called Mr. Cole's attention just before he left for Kenyon the other day to the charge made in some quarters that he was a "lumber baron," and he answered: "I do not own a pine tree in the world. I have some cut-over land and an interest in three stores, but those are my chief holdings, and do not make me a baron nor even a rich man. I fought the timber gang when I was in the legislature and when a candidate for re-election they fought me as hard as they could."

GERMAN VESSELS BEATEN.

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 4.—America scored a decisive triumph over Germany in the first race of the series for the Roosevelt cup off here Monday. The third boat to cross the finish line was the German yacht Wannsee, owned by the Wannsee Sailing club of Kiel, Germany. The fourth yacht was the Caramba, owned by C. H. W. Foster of the Eastern Yacht club, while Tilly VI and Gluckauf, two German craft, were in fifth and sixth places, respectively. Practically the contest was entirely between Auk and Vlm. At no time did the German craft or the Caramba become dangerous.

TALKS TO LABORING MEN.

William J. Bryan Delivers an Address at Detroit.

Detroit, Sept. 4.—William Jennings Bryan was formally welcomed to Detroit at noon in an address of welcome by Mayor George P. Codd.

Mr. Bryan addressed a large crowd in the fair grounds. Nearly all in the immediate vicinity of the stand bore the marks of the toiler. It was to these Bryan's address seemed directed. After declaring he was glad of the opportunity to take part in the exercises of the day dedicated to the interests of those who formed so important a part in all affairs of the country's society and government, Mr. Bryan said he was impressed, during the last few months of his travels abroad, with an idea in connection with labor.

"As I passed through the Orient," he said, "I found a great gap between those who stand at the top and those at the bottom of the social structure. I return to my home more than ever believing in the dignity of labor and the importance of cultivating a sentiment among the people which makes them respect more the man who toils than the one who idles in society. I trust we shall never have, in this country, a leisure class, if by that we mean those with nothing to do."

"In this country, where he have the best of everything, we ought to have the best ideal of labor. I want to cultivate the sentiment that the man who does something for the welfare of the nation is better than the man whose only ambition is to spend something somebody else created for him. If we measured life, not by its income, but its outgo, I believe we would strengthen the bonds of fraternity and deal more wisely with our social and economic problems."

"I believe in the eight-hour day and this is why: I believe that the laboring man is justly entitled to it and that society at large would be better if he had it. You cannot separate a man from society—you cannot deal with the question as one purely of class. No line should be drawn between the boy and his aspirations. Those who say the laboring man would waste his time if allowed shorter hours argue no more soundly than an old colored man I met in Alabama. In reply to my question, why he didn't learn to write, he said: 'Oh, I knew a fellow once who learned to write. He forged a note and was sent to the penitentiary, so I never learned.'"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
